

---

Amendments to the Abstract

---

Please replace the previously amended abstract with the following amended paragraph:

Information, such as text, sound and images is transmitted between a sender and a receiver location for receiving coordinate or location coded transmitted information, and providing text, sound and images by processing said the transmitted information via paired coordinate information in a location database.